Swing Club is set in a world that has become post-apocalyptic due to a mysterious virus that has caused everyone to die except for the population of San Francisco's Chinatown and on the homeless population, as they were immune to the virus. The player takes on the role of a new candidate for a special care facility, called the "Grave," where the main interest is to prevent the patients from turning to vampires, as the facility has a cure for this problem. In order to do so, players will have to solve puzzles and do certain activities to find the cure. Friedreich's ataxia: a complex clinical syndrome with early onset. We report four patients with the clinical and electrophysiologic features of Friedreich's ataxia and onset of symptoms before the age of 10 years. We also describe a 9-year-old boy who presented with the same features of the syndrome, but no family history of any ataxia. Such children usually lack the characteristic eye movements of the disease. The onset of these patients has been within the first decade of life and has not responded to any form of therapy. This is in contrast to other forms of ataxia where there is a relative lack of response to treatment and the disease does not progress before the fifth decade of life. The early onset of the disease may be explained by an autosomal recessive mode of inheritance. FILED NOT FOR PUBLICATION JUL 27 2011 82157476af
